

Internationally Recognised AHA-Certified BLS & ACLS Training for Professional Nurses

As part of the ASEPN course revamp, REACH proudly offers internationally accredited emergency care training recognised by the American Heart Association (AHA). Through this partnership, we provide world-class AHA-certified Basic Life Support (BLS) and Advanced Cardiovascular Life Support (ACLS) programmes exclusively for professional nurses.

These comprehensive courses deliver essential, evidence-based training in high-quality CPR, AED usage, advanced airway management, ECG rhythm interpretation, emergency pharmacology, and effective team-based resuscitation. With hands-on practice, simulation-based learning, and support from AHA-authorized instructors, participants develop the competence and confidence required to manage cardiac and respiratory emergencies. The 5-day programme includes BLS & ACLS, training followed by Infection Control training, Resume Preparation and mock interviews to support career readiness.
